RATE CONFEREES EXCEEDED POWERS

Thousands of Telegrams Referring to Anti-Pass Amendment Pouring In.

BILL BACK TO COMMITTEE

Report Discussed at Length in Senate-Tillman Moves to

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.—The statement may be made almost with positiveness that the free pass section of the rate bill, amended in conference so as to prohibit the issuance of passes to anybody outside of railway employes, will be body outside of failury employees, will be so changed in conference as to provide that free transportation may be issued the families of such employes, officers and agents. The sentiment of the Senate and acents. The sentiment of the Senate is overwhelmingly in favor of this change, and it is believed the House is of the same way of thinking. There seems no great disposition to fight to include other classes in the list of those who may receive free transportation, such as ministerg of the Gospel, secretaries of Railway Young Mon's Christian Associations, etc., and it is not unlikely that these classes will be eliminated. But the families of railway employes will be included.

Exceeded Authority.

Exceeded Authority.

An official of the Southern Railway said to-day that while it may seem strange that the railroad should want to lengthen the class which could receive free rides, yet it was very much desired by the company that the exceptions would include home-seekers, and the representatives of prospective settlers, sent to impect conditions in the section in which it was proposed to locate. The Southern is accustomed to issuing transportation to the agents of prospective settlers from the North who want to locate in the South, and in doing this have interested many good men and secured thousands of solid citizens for the Southern States. Of course, the object of the railroad was selfish, as it simply desired to develop the country through which it runs, and thus develop the carrying trade of that section. But under the provision of the section of the bill covering passes this practice of granting free transportation to home-seekers will be discontinued. There is no likelihood of the section being amended so as to include this class in the list of exceptions.

It is asserted that the conferces far exceeded their power in making so many changes in the bill, some of which change the intent of the measure, whether reference be had to the House bill or the bill as it passed the Senate.

Chairman Overstreet, of the House committee of postoffices and post roads, said to-night that if the free-pass provision should be left in the rate bill, he would ask for an additional appropriation for the purpose of defraying the cost of transporting railway mail clerks, as it is perfectly clear the railroads could not transport them free without violating the low.

But it is well assured that the provision of the bill will be eliminated in so law.

But it is well assured that the provision of the bill will be eliminated in so far as it applies to the families or rallroad men and it is believed the free pass section will be cut out entirely. In fact, this is almost certain.

Many Telegrams.

Both the Virginia Senators and all the members of the House from Virginia are receiving telegrams at the rate of about four an hour, urging them to stand for the amendment of the bill so as to include the families of railway employes include the farmines of talking appropriate in the list of those who may receive free passes. Senator Martin said he had received two hundred or more since yesterday morning, chiefly from members and officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Order of Railroad Conductors, and the Order of Trainmen. The most of the telegrams came from Virginia, but many were from other States.

SHARP DEBATE OVER CONFERENCE REPORT

Senate Flooded With Telegrams From Railroad Men-Criticism of Conferees.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON. D. C., June 5.—As Serator Tiliman suggested, there was "a streak of yellow" in the Senate to-day, due to the fact that practically every desk in the chamber was covered with telegrams of protest against the antipass provision in the railroad rate bill, as reported by the conference committee. Senator Hopkins announced that there were 6,000 names attached to the batch of messages sent up by him, and as several others forwarded as many, the total number received was quite formidable. They were all from railroad men and it each case consisted of protests against cutting off the privilege of the process against cutting off the privilege of ass provision in the railroad rate bill. riding free. In addition there was a for-mal statement on behalf of engineers, fremen, conductors and trainmen, saying that they represented 230,000 railorad employes.

While the messages were raining upon the chair, Senator Tillman made protests, saying that the telegrams could and, in the interest of time saving, should presented through the secretary "I hope," interrupted Senator Forsker,
"that the Senator will not insist on his

He also it also it as tatement that the telegrams bore evidence of the possision of a good many telegraph franks in the country. He called attention to the fact that the bill applies only to interstate tusiness, and expressed the hope that if the Schate would proceed with business, there would proceed with business, there would be a "sane, reasonable and just measure" evolved.

Senator Tillman made an appeal for a consideration of the conference report on the railroad bill.

"We expect that the bill will be sent back to conference," he said, "and it should not take long to do that."

Mr. Tillman proceeded by calling attention to the changes made by the conferees. He said they were made only for the purpose of making the bill clearer. He closed by moving to disagree to the report, thus sending it back to conference.

Criticises Conferees.

Senator Foraker criticised the conferees on account of the new matter saying that the conferees were not legislators, but mere intermediarles. He also objected to the change in the anti-pass provision making especial complaint of the elimination f the railroad employes from the privilege of free transportation. Senator Tillman replied that the charge had been made at the demand of the senator Tillman replied that the charge had been made at the demand of the conference members of the House. He promised to do the best possible if the bill should be sent back. "I don't know what we can accomplish," he said, "for there are some hard headed men in the House as well as in the Senate."

Next Mr. Foraker found fault with the amendment prohibiting discrimination for or against passengers on account of color. Mr. Foraker having said that he had received complaints concerning the character of railroad accommodations supplied negroes in the Southern States, Senators Bailey, of Texas, and Bacon, of Georgia, denied that any discrimination is practiced in their respective States in the character of the cars supplied. Mr. Tillman said the amendment was the last yielded by the Senate conferees and expressed the hope that the Senate would instruct the conferees to insist on its amendments.

Advice to Secretary.

Senator Gailinger criticised the new provision fixing the galary of the secre, tary of the Interstate Commerce Commis-sion as new legislation and said that Governor to Come to Assistance of Maynard in Jamestown Exposition Matter.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.—President Tucker, of the Jamestown Exposition Company, and Mrs. Tucker left today for their home at Lexington, Va., where their daughter, Miss Rosa, will be married Saturday to Mr. Mason, of Kentucky. M. C. Brooks Johnston, chairman of the board of governors of the exposition company, will reach here tomorrow, and will remain until the return of Mr. Tucker next week, looking after the interests of the exposition bill.

Senator Danlel to-day proposed as an amendment to the sundry civil appropriathe interests of the exposition bill.

Senator Daniel to-day proposed as an amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill what is in effect the bill which has been reported favorably by the Exposition Committee. This amendment will not be considered, of course, until after the sundry civil bill comes over from the House. Mr. Maynard expects general debate on the sundry civil bill in the House to reach a stage by the latter part of this week where he can propose to amend by adding the amount proposed for the exposition bill in the measure reported from the House Committee on Expositions. It is more than likely that the point of order that the amendment is new legislation will be raised, in which case it would have to go out, unless the House, sitting in Committee of the Whole, as it would be, should refuse to sustain the chair. Mr. Maynard is hopeful that the point will not be made, and that if it should be, the chair will not sustain it. He has no doubt that a majority of the House will vote for tile appropriation if allowed to vote on the question directly, He will plead to be allowed to bring the Question squarely before the House. General Grosevenor, of Ohio, one of the Republican leaders, will come to the aid of the gentleman from Virginia and argue for a vote on the proposition. If the House should amend the bill so as to provide for the exposition, of course Senator Daniel would withdraw his amendment, and also the bill which the Senate Committee on Expositions has reported with a favorable recommendation. If the amendment should be turned down in the House of Representatives, the Senate amendment will be pressed.

Hurry Call Sent to Baltimore for More Operators-Free-Pass Amendment Causes Remarkable Stir Throughout Entire Country.

(From Gur Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5,-The anagers of the Western Union and managers of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph offices in this city, estimate to-night that at least 30,000 telegrams have been received in Washington since yesterday morning, addressed to Benators and members of Congress, signed by railroad men protesting against the clause in the rate bill which will deprive railroad employers of the right to reserve free transportation for their families. The telegrams began to come in early

The telegrams began to come in early yesterday morning. Every office in the country, by noon, was reporting "so many messages for Washington" and clamoring for a wire. Every availfule operator in the city was set to work. The night force in the Western Union office was kept at work from eight last night until eight o'clock this morning. At the latter hour it was estimated that 20,000 messages had been received.

It is stated that practically every one of the messages is sent paid. There are very few "deadheads" among them and none are sent collect. They vary in length from one word to two hundred. They are signed by individuals and by organizations of railroad operatives, generally by individuals. At one time today a large batch of telegrams, identical in wording, came into the Western Union office, and the message was mimeographed and then the proper signature was attached. It is well known that every one of the replies of the senators and members tells the correspondent that the bill will be so changed as to allow the farvilles of reliroad men to ride free.

NEW YORK, June 5.— a resolution requesting that Congress allow the importation of labor by employers and that the contracts between such laborers and their employers be filed with the government at the port of entry, was to-day presented by Max Robinson to the Southern States' Immigration Commission, which met in this city to discuss methods for the securing of desirable immigrants for the South. The resolution provides that the wages to be paid under such contract be not less than the recognized standard of the locality in which the work is to be done, and further expresses disapproval of the bill providing for additional equalifications and an increased head tax as a bar to the importation of a desirable class of immigration. Action on the resolution was deferred until the commission's return from their inspection of Ellis Island late today.

A letter was also read from Incodore Marburg, of Baltimore, who is a member of the Immigration Committee of the Civic Federation, in which Mr. Marburg wrote that only four and a half per cent. of the immigrants coming to this country last year went to Southern States and that there was urgent need in the South of an immigration of a new race, which can be counted upon to make its contributions to progress. butions to progress.

Commission Surprised.

The members of the commission inspected the immigration station on Ellis Island to-day, on invitation of Immigration Commissioner Watchorn. In the course of an address to the commissioners, Mr. Watchorn said:
"Immigrants who arrive here are for Northern points, and if you were to try and steer them from their several points, they would think you were bunco finen. Unless the wages of the South are brought up to the standard of those of the North, you cannot expect immigrants to go South, and if you did get them to go, they would not stay, because they would probably hear from their relatives in the North, who were making more money."

money."
This statement caused surprise among members of the commission, who seemed to be under the impression that immigrants have no special destination, and would gladly accept any proposition which was made them. In order that the commission might be convinced, Commissioner Watchorn allowed Chairman James E. Graybill to question several of the immigrants. Of the half dozen or more questioned, not one would consent to abandon the place he was bound for and go ISouth.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The Senate to-day passed the naval appropriation bill and also gave considerable attention to the conference report on the railroad rate bill. The only important amendment made to the naval bill was one requiring the Secretary of the Navy to submit the plans of the proposed big warship to Congress before proceeding with its consideration. The provision for the vessel supplied the basis for the only discussion in connection with the measure. The bill carries a total appropriation of $103,117,670.

There is no doubt that the rate bill will be sent back to conference. Senator Tillman admitted that there were some changes in conference which could not be justified under the rules, but said they had been necessary in order to make the bill harmonious.

Senator Foraker criticised the changes in the anti-pass provision, the addition compelling connections with lateral lines and the omission of the provision regarding "Jim Crow" cars. Senator Gallinger took exception to the increase in the
